What is restoration?

Restoration

We define restoration as returning a historic park and garden to "a known earlier state, on the basis of compelling evidence, without conjecture". The criteria include:

- Weighing up the effect of change restoration work would bring to the heritage values of the historic park and garden
- Compelling evidence for the restoration work
- The proposed work respects previous forms of the historic park and garden
- The maintenance implications of the proposed restoration are considered to be sustainable

- One-day cross-border conference with aim to demonstrate to national stakeholders of both countries (LV and LT) what has been done, results achieved and to raise their awareness on manor parks as sites attractive for tourism from perspective of leisure time travelers, as well as of visitors having professional interest.

short information

The development of Ķemeri has been based on a unique value of Latvia – sulphur springs and their use in medical treatment, as well as the natural environment and elements of Ķemeri.

In 1838 is officially recognized as a resort.

In 1895 the park was started in a place that was uncharted and swampy.

Around 1907 two park areas were established – forest park type territory and «cultivated park»

When the Ķemeri Hotel was built in 1936, the park territory was rescheduled.

In 1960 the composition of the parter was changed. After independence, the park developed without significant intervention.

Joint trip/event of LV and LT journalists, tourism operators and culture and nature bloggers to the manor parks
